Press Release

Copenhagen, 4 November 2026

Capidea is pleased to announce the acquisition of the majority stake in MC Emballage A/S, one of Denmark's leading full-service providers of packaging solutions. With the transaction, MC Emballage welcomes a new majority owner, while a number of the company's current employee shareholders, including CEO Peder Eriksen, continue as significant co-owners alongside Capidea.

As the packaging industry consolidates and requirements for documentation, product data, environmental compliance and sustainability continue to increase, the need for a strong, competent and independent player in the Danish market is growing. Building on MC Emballage's strong foundation and long-standing customer relationships, the partnership will focus on strengthening the organization, further developing the company's value-adding services, including advisory on sustainability and packaging regulation, and pursuing new growth opportunities.

"Having known Capidea as an investor for nearly 10 years, I have experienced first-hand the integrity, trust and long-term perspective that characterize the organization. This made Capidea a natural partner for the next chapter of MC Emballage's growth journey. Together, I believe we can further strengthen the solutions, expertise and support we provide to both existing and new customers. Equally important to me, employee ownership has been part of MC Emballage's DNA for 22 years, and I am very pleased that several employees will remain significant co-owners and that broad-based ownership will continue to be part of our future," says Peder Eriksen CEO of MC Emballage.

"MC Emballage is a well-run company with a strong culture, dedicated employees, a leading market position and a loyal customer base. We are pleased to partner with Peder Eriksen and all the employees of MC Emballage, many of whom will stay as co-owners. Together, we will invest in the future and build on the company's role as a trusted advisor on sustainable packaging and regulation, so that MC Emballage continues to grow as a strong, independent player in the Danish market," says Henrik Normann, Partner at Capidea.
